NEWS

Now that you have your ministries listed and the various pastoral staff members associated with them, do your best to come up with at least two news items that talk about your church. Think of a Site Level (something about the church) and one for one of your ministries. There are some ideas of possible news stories on the next page.

EVENTS

One of the main differences between a news item and an event is events have dates associated with them. Your weekend services, a Jr. High sleep over, a three day ministry conference in Rolling Meadows, IL.

VOLUNTEERS

Would your church benefit from having volunteers? What church wouldn't!?! Just like news and events, your site and all ministries can have their own opportunities. I think you can guess what will be asked of you next. Please write down two volunteer opportunities.

In addition to the positions that you would like to see filled, try to come up with some responsibilities, some qualifications and what type (adult, men, women, children, etc) of person that you want to respond to the opportunity.

Responsibilities read much like a wanted ad in the paper. "In need of an enthusiastic person who loves to smile and meet new people." "We need someone who is gifted at sharing the gospel with children."

The qualifications would be like, "Loves children" or "Great linear thinker and stays on task", or my personal favorite, "ridiculously good looking". OK, that one probably shouldn't be on there...but I wanted to make sure you were reading this.
